

What's Happening in Canmore

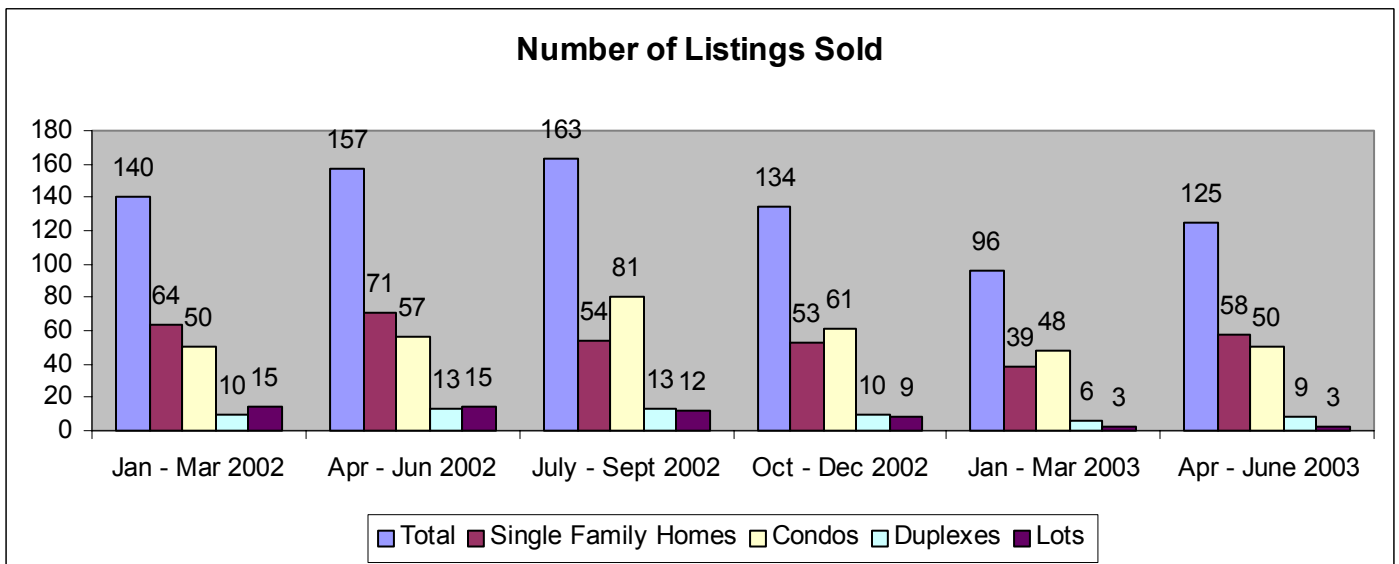

July 12 - Canmore Miners' Day

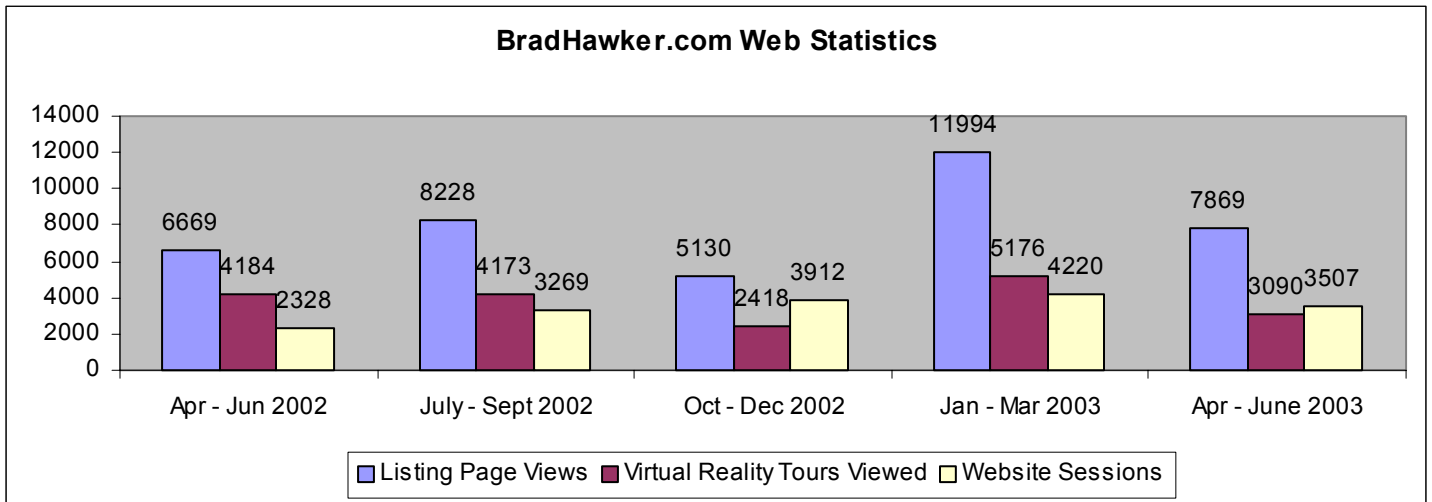

For the better part of a century, Canmore made its living from coal. July 13, 1979, was the day the miners emerged from the mines for the very last time. Miners' Day 2003 will be celebrated on Saturday, July 12th to allow more families to attend.

Miners' Day commemorates the history of Canmore's coal mines with a parade, speeches and a special luncheon for the ex-miners and their families. The parade proceeds up Main Street beginning at 12:30 pm.

Why not take in the parade, have some lunch on one of our fine patios, and then learn a little more about Canmore's history by visiting the Canmore Museum and the NWMP Barracks?

What's Happening at the Hawker Homefront

Lauren has just finished first grade and wanted to know why school had to stop during the summer break. She truly enjoys everything about school and continues to surprise us each day on how quickly she is learning and her high level of enthusiasm.
